ASM International Announces Founding Provider Members of the Materials Solutions Network

For over a century ASM International has connected materials professionals and their organizations to the resources necessary to provide professional development and to improve materials performance. In accordance with our mission, ASM has founded a new endeavor, the ASM Materials Solutions Network. This network serves as an extension of an organization's R&D capacity by leveraging the ASM network to provide collaborative and scalable solutions. The deliverables of the ASM Materials Solutions Network include materials based products, services, and know-how, where ASM acts as the matchmaker between Clients and Providers.

The ASM Materials Solutions Network was formally announced at the AeroMat Conference in May 2018. Since testing the offering in late 2017 and early 2018, the Materials Solutions Network has delivered high levels of quality, timeliness, and participant satisfaction. The network serves multiple industries including Aerospace, Automotive, Oil & Gas, Materials Processes, and Medical Devices.

ASM thanks the Founding Provider Members for believing in the power of the ASM network and for supporting the launch of the Materials Solutions Network. Provider Members are pre-qualified organizations providing products and services relevant to Client Member materials needs. We are pleased to present our Founding Provider Members:

- Battelle
- ESi
- Granta
- IMR Test Labs
- NSL Analytical
- QuesTek
- Solar Atmospheres

The materials expertise and unmatched offerings of our Founding Provider Members have, and will provide the foundation to the Materials Solutions Network.

If your organization has industry leading materials expertise and would like to harness the business potential of the ASM Materials Solutions Network, we encourage you to contact a member of our Operations Team, Nate Bulcroft, at nate.bulcroft@asminternational.com.
